To whom it may concern:

I examined the pony known as "Pickles" on 11/25/24. Pickles is reported to be a 14yo, approximately 40", pony gelding. On this date, no significant abnormalities were noted with all findings within normal limits. Pickles was bright, alert, and responsive on presentation. He is at a body condition score of 7/9. Oral examination seems to closely correlate this pony to his reported age. Eyes and ears appeared normal with no vision or hearing defects observed. Heart and lungs were auscultated within normal limits. Adequate gut sounds were noted in all four quadrants. Lymph nodes were palpated within normal size and no indication of disease or illness found with this horse or other horses within the stable facility. Pickles was noted to be barefoot on all 4 hooves. No response to hoof testers was observed. At the straight walk and trot, no signs of lameness were appreciated on this day. Overall, Pickles was found to be a healthy pony with no significant abnormalities noted.
