To Whom It May Concern,

On 9/4/25 I examined the 2013 "McCurdy Plantation Horse" chestnut mare named "McCurdy's Reba" owned by Janet Franklin of Reinbeau Ranch. At time of exam, horse appeared healthy and sound. Auscultation of cardiac, respiratory, and GI systems were within normal limits. Hoof test exam was negative (normal) on all four feet. No heat or elevated digital pulse in the feet. I observed the horse at a walk and gait and did not observe any obvious lameness. Both ears had some superficial abrasions and loss of hair but no obvious external parasite or infection noted.

This exam represents the findings on the day of the exam and does not represent a guarantee of any type. This inspection is not a pre-purchase exam. I advise any prospective owner to talk with their veterinarian about any further examination that may be recommended. Sincerely,

Dr. Michele Roseburg, DVM
